2007 Season Review

- Maryland lost two of the top players in the country to the MLS in Maurice Edu and Chris Seitz, but the Terps still advanced to the third round of the NCAA Tournament.
- After starting the season 3-4-1, the Terps closed out the regular season with a 10-game unbeaten streak, going 7-0-3 in that stretch to finish 10-4-4.
- Maryland made its sixth appearance in the Sweet Sixteen and is the only team in the country to advance that far in the NCAA Tournament the last six seasons.
- The Terps earned the 13th seed in the NCAA Tournament and is the only team in the nation to be seeded in the postseason in each of the last six seasons.
- Stephen King wrapped up his career with a season for the record books as he assisted on 13 goals which was the second most in a single season at Maryland.
- His 13 assists led the ACC and ranked second in the nation.
- His 33 career assists rank second all-time at Maryland while his 93 points sixth.
- King started in every game Maryland played in his four seasons, earning a spot in the starting 11 a Terps’ record 93 times.
- King was named an NSCAA/adidas All-American, an ESPN The Magazine Academic All-America First Team selection, and the ACC Men’s Soccer Scholar-Athlete of the Year.
- He was drafted by the Chicago Fire in the third round of the MLS SuperDraft.
- Omar Gonzalez, Jeremy Hall, and King were each named All-ACC selections while Rodney Wallace was an All-ACC Freshmen Team honoree.
- Gonzalez was also tabbed the 2007 ACC Defensive Player of the Year, marking the second-straight season that a Terp had won the award.
- Maryland went 9-1-1 in matches when it scored first with the only loss coming against Bradley in the third round of the NCAA Tournament.
- Maryland’s September 7th meeting with West Virginia at Ludwig Field provided the largest crowd of the season as 5,022 fans turned out. That number is the fifth-highest in Ludwig history.
- Freshman Rodney Wallace was second on the team with seven goals. He had a pair of two-goal games against Villanova (10/16) and NC State (10/27).
- Wallace was the first freshman to have a pair of two-goal games in a season since Stephen King did it in 2004.
- On Saturday, October 27, Maryland made history with its 5-0 win against the Wolfpack. The shutout was the largest margin of victory ever at Ludwig Field against an ACC opponent and was the biggest win in a regular season game inside the conference for head coach Sasho Cirovski.
- The Terps had one of the most memorable Senior Nights ever on November 3 - a 4-1 win. Maryland’s three seniors accounted for 10 of the 14 points scored.
- King tied the school record for assists in a game with three. Defender Spencer Allen scored his first goal of the season and second of his career and Aki Kadotani also scored a goal.
- In the 80th minute, junior Graham Zusi was setting up for a free kick on the left side of the box, but head coach Sasho Cirovski called on King to take the shot - which he hit.
- Cirovski said after the game: “They are three great people and you couldn’t have scripted this any better. Spencer Allen scored our first goal as a left back, then Aki Kadotani makes a great play, and Stephen King hits a free kick ... It couldn’t get any better. Those three kids are really special and tonight was their night. It was a perfect night.”

- ACC Defensive Player of the Year: Omar Gonzalez, Maryland
- ACC Freshman of the Year: Corbin Bone, Wake Forest
- ACC Coach of the Year: Ed Kelly, Boston College
BLOOMINGTON, Ind. - The No. 9 Maryland men's soccer team battled No. 7 Indiana in an exciting back-and-forth affair and forced the Hoosiers to a 1-1 draw on August 31 at Jerry Yeagley Field at Armstrong Stadium in the adidas/IU Credit Union Classic. Both teams scored in the first half: 1:11 apart from each other and both sides had their chances to notch the golden goal, but the teams settled for the tie.

Junior Graham Zusi recorded the goal for the Terrapins in the 26th minute after Kevin Noschang scored in the 25th for the Hoosiers. Junior Rich Costanzo was credited with the assist as he sent the cross into the box to Zusi. Freshman keeper Will Swaim stopped five shots in goal in his first collegiate start.

Indiana came away with a couple of chances in the first 15 minutes of play as Daniel Kelly got off the first shot on goal of the game 4:13 in, but his attempt was directed right at Swaim who made the easy save. At the 29:30 mark, Kevin Alston was open on the left side and served up a dangerous cross into the box but the Hoosiers were unable to get a foot on the ball.

Maryland got its first quality chance at the 23:35 point in the half when senior Spencer Allen cleared away an Indiana attack. The ball bounced in front of a streaking Zusi with two Hoosier defenders on his tail. The defense applied enough pressure to force Zusi's shot just wide of the net.

The Hoosiers struck first in the 25th minute when Charley Traylor sent in a ball to Brian Ackley. Ackley got a head to the pass and threaded it to Zusi.

Freshman keeper Will Swaim stopped five shots in goal in his first collegiate start.

The defense applied enough pressure to force Zusi's shot just wide of the goal. The Terps responded immediately, however, just over a minute later when Kevin Noschang dribbled through some traffic on the right side and flipped a pass to King in the box. King headed the ball towards the right side of the goal but his shot hit the post and came back and Indiana was able to get away without any further danger.

VERSUS NOTRE DAME

BLOOMINGTON, Ind. - Senior Stephen King recorded a goal and an assist as the No. 9 Maryland men's soccer team defeated No. 10 Notre Dame, 3-0, on September 2 in the adidas/IU Credit Union Classic at Jerry Yeagley Field at Armstrong Stadium. The win completes a 2-0-0 season for the Terps as they are now 5-1-0 overall with seven goals for the Terps while sophomores Jeremy Hall and Doug Rodkey each recorded assists. Maryland dominated the Irish for the duration of the game, outshooting Notre Dame 17-3 and keeping Hermann Trophy winner Joseph Lapira in check. It was the first time the Irish had been shutout in 15 games.

Maryland jumped out of the gate in the first five minutes and spent a lot of the time on the offensive, getting off a couple of early shots. The attacking pressure came through soon enough just 4:25 into the match as Hall had the ball on the right side of the box deep near the goal line. Hall flicked it back to Zusi in front of the net who one-timed the ball into the goal for the 1-0 lead.

Zusi got another great chance at the 29:40 mark in the half after he was fouled at the left corner of the goal box. Zusi took the ensuing kick and swung a shot towards the right post, but it was saved by a diving Andrew Quinn. A hard rebound came out to freshman Rodney Wallace, but his shot misfired high.

Notre Dame had its best opportunity of the half with 22 minutes left after a member of the Irish was fouled just outside the box on the left side. Alex Yoshinaga set up for the free kick a yard outside the box, but his in-swinger was headed out of danger and the Terps defense held without giving up a shot.

After a bunch of midfield play throughout the rest of the half, Maryland capitalized and scored its second goal of the game with 4:21 left. After the red and black attack penetrated into the offensive third, King had a defender on him on the left side of the box and kept trying to shake him to find an opening to deliver a cross. King faked towards the goal line and spun inside to send a pass into the box. The pass found Luke Jockusch who placed a shot just left of the post that was saved by Quinn.

Maryland came away with the first shot on goal in the second half with six minutes expired as Zusi served up a Terps' corner into the box. His in-swinger was deflected out but lanced on the foot of King, who fired a liner towards the post. The shot made it through traffic, but Quinn made a good save to keep it out of goal.

Notre Dame finally recorded its first shot of the match with 31 minutes left when Notre Dame lobbed a pass into Lapira who was making a run. The Terps defense was on him, however, and forced a weak shot off the side of his foot that created no danger.

Maryland added its third goal of the game with 20 minutes left in the game when Rodney Wallace sent in a lob into the box while on the attack. Quinn came out to play the ball and looked to easily take it in with nobody pressuring him, but the ball slipped through his hands. Two Maryland players were the behind the keeper to clean up the mess and King was the one who kicked it in.

VERSUS WEST VIRGINIA

COLLEGE PARK, Md. - Dan Stratford scored 35 seconds into the first overtime to lead No. 20 West Virginia to a 1-0 win against No. 6 Maryland on September 7 in front of 5,022 fans at Ludwig Field. Stratford nailed home a cross from Mike Anoa'i seconds after the opening kick in the extra session. The attendance figure is the fifth-highest in Ludwig Field history.

The 5,022 spectators that showed up for Maryland's 2007 home debut outdrew the 4,565 that came out against NC State back on September 16 of last year.
After a back-and-forth 90 minutes that saw both teams squander opportunities, the Mountaineers wasted no time in the first overtime to steal a win on the road. After the kickoff, Anoia dribbled down the left side of the field, found a pass on the right flank, and ventured in the box off of a pass from the senior. His shot was deflected off of the senior and went to Yates to the right. The Severna Park product dribbled to the right side of the box and around a defender and then blasted a shot from 25 yards out saved by Sean Kelley at the 16:49 point in the game, Maryland had a couple of more quality chances in the first 45 minutes with freshman Yannick Salmon missing just wide and classmate Billy Cortes almost forcing an own goal against the Patriots. Salmon had a blast from 25 yards out saved by Sean Kelley at the 16:49 point in the game.

In the second half, the Terps were close to scoring again eight minutes in when Zusi sent in another cross from the left side. The pass reached Wallace, but his header sailed just over the crossbar. Maryland controlled the entire 90 minutes of the match and outshot the Eagles, 28-11, with 12 of its shots on target. The Terps almost put the first goal on the board off of a corner nine minutes in. Junior Michael Marchiano took the corner and delivered a cross to the far post to an awaiting Hall. The Tampa, Fla. native got a head to the ball while back-peddling, but barely missed over the goal. Maryland had two scoring chances in the final 20 minutes for the win. The first came in just five minutes in as Zusi took the corner on the left side. His pass went to the far post with Jeremy Hall heading it into the box. An Eagle defender headed it back to Hall, who jumped and served the ball back into the box. Sophomore Omar Gonzalez was able to get a shot off but the header was saved.

Just over a minute later, Zusi took a corner from the same spot and his pass found senior Spencer Allen. Allen got his head to the ball but his shot went just wide to the right. Allen created another chance at the 36:30 mark as he stole the ball in the defensive half of the field. The Washington, D.C. product dribbled through the open midfield and found a streaking Hall making a run towards goal. Hall went one-on-one with the keeper with a defender behind him, but Chris Brown came out and made the open field save.

BC scored on its first chance of the night with 19:57 left in the half. A Maryland foul in its offensive half of the field allowed the Eagles the free kick. The ball was blasted to the other half of the field with Manswell making a run to the ball in front of him. Manswell got to the ball first and beat the Terps' keeper to put BC up 1-0.

Just over three minutes later, Alejandro Bedoya used some fancy footwork on the right side to find some open field. He then found Shawn Chin in front of him who delivered a cross into the box where Manswell was waiting. Manswell hooked a shot into the left side netting for his second goal of the match and gave BC a 2-0 advantage heading into the half.

The second frame was dominated with midfield play as both teams battled for possession. Boston College got the only dangerous chance in the half as a cross was sent into the box from the left side. Manswell was there again, but this time, freshman keeper Thorne Holder made a good save deflecting the shot over the cross bar.

vs. George Mason

COLLEGE PARK, Md. - Sophomores Jeremy Hall and Drew Yates led the No. 6 Maryland men’s soccer team in a strong second half as the Terrapins scored all of their goals after halftime in a 3-0 win against George Mason on September 9 at Ludwig Field. All of the Terps’ goals came in the last 20 minutes of the match. Hall established career highs with his two goals and four points while Yates’ three points is also a personal best.
Maryland dominated the Monarchs in the midfield in the first half with senior captains Stephen King and Spencer Allen commanding the pitch. The Terrapins’ offense fired off five shots while the back line did not allow one. Old Dominion got off five shots in the second half and had its chances but came up empty.

The Terps played most of the first half in their offensive half of the field and with 14 minutes expired, got their first dangerous opportunity. Sophomore Omar Gonzalez found some room about 30 yards out in the middle of the field to blast a shot. The ball was slightly deflected and sailed just high but earned Maryland a corner kick.

Just six minutes in, Steffen Sommerstad found some open space 20 yards out in front of the box. He put a shot on goal but the blast was redirected high by Swaim. Duke was unable to get a shot off of its second corner.

Old Dominion was not without its chances in the second half though. Just six minutes in, Steffen Sommerstad found some open space 20 yards out in front of the box. He put a shot on goal but his attempt was blocked by the Terps, but the deflection landed to a wide open Graham Dugoni on the left side of the 18. Dugoni’s shot went uncontested and beat Swaim as Duke went up 1-0.

Maryland got its first quality chance with 19:30 on the clock as senior Stephen King forced the ball deep into the box on the right side that forced the Duke defense to kick out for a throw in. Senior Spencer Allen lined up for the toss and found sophomore Omar Gonzalez who redirected it back to junior Rich Costanzo, whose blast was deflected right to keeper Justin Papadakis who made the save.

The Blue Devils earned a couple of corner kicks at the 29:00 mark but failed to convert on them. On the first attempt, Josh Bienfeld got off a shot but the blast was redirected high by Swaim. Duke was un

His delivery went to freshman Sean Flatley in the box where he headed a ball wide of the target.

A couple of minutes later junior Graham Zusi sent a ball into the box from about 35 yards out on the right side. His pass skipped through the defense to put Virginia Tech up 1-0.

It was Yates' first touch of the game which came just over five minutes after he entered the match.

The second half continued much like the first, with Maryland possessing in its offensive half of the field, but it was Lehigh who came up with the first decent chance after the halftime whistle. After some clever passing in the middle of the field, the Mountain Hawks' leading scorer, Kyle Evans, found a seam to shoot. His blast sailed wide to the left and was not a threat.

Maryland got another corner kick a half hour in as Zusi lined up for the play on the left side. His delivery found freshman Billy Cortes in the mix who got a hand to the ball, but his shot was stopped by Lee.
